WE WANT IMMIGRANTS, BUT—

This is the caption of an editorial in Saturday Night, Toronto's "paper worth while," of February 16, which is one of the most scurrilous, malicious and prejudiced "write-ups" we have read, even in Saturday Night. Periodically, it seems, the editorial writer of this paper, which is fast losing any prestige it may have had among the thinking and respectable element in Canada, looks at his calendar and says, "Oh, it's time to attack the Jews and other foreigners," and in goes his pen into the inkpot of gall and prejudice, and out comes another screed like the one we refer to. The editorial commences with the statement "that the Canadian Government has arranged to import five thousand Jewish immigrants from Southern or 'Little' Russia. It is to be hoped that the Government knows what it is about and that these people will not be allowed to take permanent lodging in our cities." Further on in the editorial the writer asks, "Should these people be admitted here in any large number? Are these people an asset to the country or a liability?"

It is not true that the Government has arranged to import even a single Jewish immigrant, let alone five thousand. The facts concerning the five thousand immigrants referred to, are these: Some months ago the head office in Paris of the Jewish Colonization Association, popularly known as the "Baron de Hirsch Fund," notified its Canadian branch, whose headquarters are in Montreal, that there were thousands of Ukrainian Jewish refugees stranded in Roumania who are exiles from Sovietland because they were not Bolsheviks. These refugees could not be repatriated for obvious reasons. To return to the Ukraine meant certain death. Many of these refugees were being sent to Argentine or Uruguay, some to Palestine; others were waiting for the U.S. quota to open; and some had expressed a willingness to come to Canada, provided permission could be secured from the Canadian Government to admit them. Representations were made to the Government at Ottawa, and permission was secured to bring in six thousand of these homeless refugees, on certain conditions: firstly, that these immigrants must be in good health, physical examinations to be made on the other side of the jurisdiction of the Canadian Consulate in Bucharest, and only the physically fit were to receive visas; secondly, that the Jewish Colonization Association charge; thirdly, that these immigrants are to be distributed throughout Canada and not concentrated in one or two large cities, and that those suitable shall be sent to farms; fourthly, that the Government assumes no financial responsibility for transportation of these immigrants.

Every one of these conditions, set down in black on white, have been lived up to. The Canadian Government, moved by humanitarian motives, granted permission. The Jewish Colonization Association is paying for the transportation of these immigrants from Bucharest to their destination into the interior of Canada. A bond of $150,000 has been deposited with the Government to guarantee that these immigrants will not become a public charge. Already close to nine hundred of these immigrants have arrived in Canada. These have been distributed from coast to coast in practically every community where there are Jews. A large number of young men have been sent to Jewish farmers near Winnipeg, which are under the auspices of the Jewish Colonization Association, which society has done much in promoting the movement to place Jews on the land. The Ontario Jewish communities have agreed to take 30 per cent. of these immigrants. Every Jewish community has assumed the responsibility of welcoming these newcomers, fitting them out, and securing employment for them.

"Are these people an asset to the country or a liability?" asks Saturday Night. Well, what are the facts, never mind the prejudices. Let us help Saturday Night to frankly answer their own question.

There are about 130,000 Jews in Canada scattered from Halifax to Vancouver, who for the most part are immigrants or the children of immigrants. True, most of them live in the larger cities, but this is not unique to Jews. The population of Canada is largely concentrated in the cities. This tendency to urbanity is a phenomenon that manifests itself in the United States and European countries as well.

Do the Jews assimilate? If you mean by assimilate, are they becoming racially extinct through race suicide, or absorbed through intermarriage, our answer is "no." And what is more, we maintain that from a cultural and ethical point of view, considering what the Jews have to contribute in these respects to Canadian life, it would be the greatest tragedy if the Jews in Canada became racially extinct or absorbed, even as we would regard it as a calamity to Canada if the Scotch, the Welsh, the French-Canadians and others in her population became extinct or absorbed racially. We are aware, however, that peoples of different races and religions come into more intimate social and

This is natural and, whether desirable or not, is inevitable. The highest form of assimilation exists, however, not where one individual swallows up the other, or one group merges indistinguishably with another, but where each side adapts to its own personality the unique contributions of the other. If every group were to do this, Canada could extract from each people its special good so that it may surrender into a common fund of wisdom and experience what it has to contribute. All of these surrenders and contributions taken together will create the national spirit of Canada. Toward this end the Melting Pot, though it is constantly but slowly melting, even in the United States, in spite of everything said to the contrary, is not the best means.

From an educational and cultural point of view, everyone admits that the Jews have taken full advantage of the Canadian schools and colleges. They have proved themselves to be studious, and even superior in their love for education to their fellow non-Jewish students. In the learned professions the Jews have their proportion. The Jews support art, music and literature, as well, if not proportionally better, than other people. In this respect, therefore, they have been assets, not liabilities.

The bulk of the Jews in the larger communities are wage workers, engaged principally in the needle industries. These industries rank among the three most important industries of the country. These industries, which give employment to thousands of non-Jews, and whose products compete effectively with foreign-made goods, are the creation principally of the Jewish immigrant. The Jews have developed the junk business, which is a form of economic salvaging that saves the country millions of dollars a year. Jewish storekeepers, traders, jobbers have built up the commercial possibilities in their respective communities. Nowhere has the Jew ousted the others, but rather developed those avenues of trade, commerce and industry which were neglected or lay undeveloped in the country. It is true that the Jew does not go on the farm. But this is due rather to the fact that for 1900 years the Gentiles have kept the Jews off the land. Nevertheless, the modern Jew is everywhere showing a growing tendency to return to the farm. The immigrants that are now coming will be absorbed in the economic life of the communities, and like their predecessors become assets.

Is the Jew ever a public charge? It is a well-known fact that the Jewish communities everywhere, have always looked after their own poor and needy, and will continue to do so. Statistics in Toronto and Montreal prove

Every Friday

More comedy relief was afforded us last week by Toronto Saturday Night in an editorial which was a fitting successor to the article on Lenin in a previous issue. That article, as an effort in stupidity, had its points, but this last brain-child of the editorial staff was far and away so much more perfect from the Saturday Night viewpoint that it might be called moronic. After ferreting around in the muddled mass of statistics and split infinitives, we gather that the five thousand Jews to whom the Government will give a refuge in Canada are not Nordics and are therefore inferior and so insane, besides, that the country ought to begin now to build asylums for them.

It is a gloomy situation as Saturday Night sees it. The melting pot, so termed by Israel "Zangwell" (doubtless the writer means Israel Zangwill), has refused to melt its various ingredients, and therefore the United States Congress is planning to restrict immigration by basing entries on the census of 1890. Although this would be a good thing for the States because few South Europeans would be admitted, Canada (hints Saturday Night) would suffer cruelly because those who couldn't get in the States would want to come here. Then Canada would be faced with the same stupendous problem of caring for a host of mental incompetents that Saturday Night says New York State has!

Now all those who can detect immigration propaganda know how outworn is the old argument of the melting pot refusing to cook a blended mixture. And we are generous enough to assume that even Saturday Night knows that it is the labor element in America which is opposed to immigration from South Europe simply because it does not want its own jobs jeopardized by an influx of cheap labor. But what is entirely new (and we give Saturday Night due credit) is the implication that, if a country permits Jews to come over in five-thousand lots, it will have so many mental incompetents that one-third of all its taxes may have to be used for the maintenance of institutions and hospitals for wrecks of humanity.

Although this editorial in Saturday Night is intentionally malicious and manifestly cooked up and unfair, it is impossible for Toronto Jews to take it seriously, because its very purpose is defeated by over-zealousness on the part of the writer. There was a time when the community might have been disturbed enough to send a spokesman, hat in hand, to protest, but that day has gone just as surely as there is one coming when Jews will be strong enough here for Saturday Night to deem a change of ways advisable as good business policy, if not as a matter of editorial decency.

From Adolph Ochs, owner of the New York Times, in an interview in the Brooklyn Daily Eagle:

"No editorial writer or no writer in any capacity can do his best work if he is hampered by dictation from those who own the newspaper. Of course there should be an editorial policy—that we all know. Now the men who form that policy may be right or wrong from various viewpoints. A newspaper cannot please all readers. But whatever that policy is, it must be the honest belief of those who form it and it must be adhered to firmly and honestly and fearlessly. The newspaper that is afraid of offending this person or that person, or of driving away some advertiser, is a weak newspaper and cannot succeed. But the writer must be left free to express his own honest beliefs, for if he be not free his writing will limp and halt and show his insincerity."

The Jewish Orphanage in Winnipeg is richer by almost $12,000 as a result of the recent funds campaign and the western trip of Mr. A. Osovsky, the superintendent. This speaks well for the Jewish communities, all of which are suffering a business depression. Vancouver, although the farthest away from the Winnipeg Orphanage, led the list with the contribution of nearly $3,000, and wherever Mr. Osovsky went his work depended on that cordial assistance of women's organizations, without which most work of the kind in Canada would be a failure.

Rivka says: "The woman who brought up six children all by herself has a single grandchild who prefers the housemaid to his mother."

WINNIPEG

ORPHANAGE WESTERN TOUR

The campaign for funds for the Jewish Orphanage was begun November 27, at Fort William, Ont., and after visiting all the principal cities and towns from there to the Pacific Coast, Mr. Osovsky, superintendent, returned to Winnipeg and made his report to the executive committee on January 28, at a meeting presided over by the president, Mr. Allan Bronfman.

Mr. Osovsky paid tribute to the sympathetic reception accorded him. The total subscribed during the campaign was about $12,000. In Regina where the Jewish community is raising money for a new Talmud Torah, they voluntarily postponed their activities in that connection in order to help the Orphanage.

The superintendent was assisted in the campaign by Rabbi Herbert J. Samuel who addressed a meeting at Fort William, Rabbi I. Kahanovitch in Regina, and Rabbi Horowitz at Saskatoon.

The community of Vancouver headed the list by subscribing nearly $3,000 and in this connection Mr. Osovsky drew the attention of the board to the assistance he has received in Vancouver during the past three years, from Mr. Sam. Bronfman who happened to be there at the same time as the superintendent and on each occasion tendered a luncheon to the representative business men of Vancouver at which the campaigns were launched. Mr. Osovsky spoke of the splendid assistance which he received in all the places he visited from the local communities and ladies' organizations without whose co-operation success would have been impossible.

The meeting adopted a resolution of thanks to Rabbis Samuel, Kahanovitch and Horowitz and to Mr. Sam. Bronfman for their assistance this year, to the press for free publicity, and to Superintendent Osovsky.

Carleton Hall, which had been beautifully decorated for the occasion, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Sunday evening, January 27, when Miss Ann Bloom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bloom, became the bride of Mr. Maurice Stochinsky. The bride entered on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss May Mountfield, and took her place under a silk canopy, the centre of which was decorated with tiny red, white and blue electric lights which formed a star. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Pinsky. The bride was striking in her gown of French ivory stain, which was draped and trimmed with pearl ornaments, her veil which was of net, was worn with a wreath of orange blossoms and was trimmed with rosettes of net centred with pearls. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and lillies-of-the-valley, with streamers of baby ribbon caught with lillies-of-the-valley, her only ornament being the groom's gift, a string of pearls. The only attendant was Miss Esther Bloom, sister of the bride, who wore a very handsome French gown of rose chiffon velvet, draped and caught with a fancy ornament in the pastel shades, in her hair. She wore a wreath of silver leaves, which made a very charming effect. Her colonial bouquet was composed of Ophelia roses and violets, her gift from the groom being a dinner ring of diamonds. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. J. Erlanger. During the signing of the register Miss Ann Pinsky sang very sweetly, "O Promise Me." After the ceremony refreshments were served. The bride's table over which hung a white wedding bell, suspended from white streamers, was centred with the much admired wedding cake which was surmounted with a silver vase filled with roses, whilst in front of it stood a miniature bride and groom. The pianist and soloist received pretty rings, and the best man a diamond tie pin. Later in the evening the couple left for a wedding trip to the coast, where they will visit Vancouver, Seattle and Portland. The bride travelled in a very smart grey Valla-Valla dress, with which she wore a black Valla-Valla coat trimmed with squirrel, her hat being a model toque of taupe and blue.

Dear Louis:

On going through the records of our Agents, it was indeed gratifying to note the fine showing and low fire loss ratio of your firm for the year 1923.

I always felt satisfied that Jewish insurance in no way differed from any other class, provided a responsible broker upon whom we could rely, took the necessary precaution in the selection of the moral and physical hazard, and your fine record during the last few years has proved that to me, and to my companies, beyond a doubt.

As heretofore we shall be glad to take care of any Jewish insurance recommended by you to the full extent of our facilities.

Wishing you continued success, I am,

Yours very truly,
PERCY J. QUINN,
Manager.

Jews Blamed for Depreciation of Franc

Paris, Feb. 21.—French newspapers demand the expulsion of Jewish immigrants, making them responsible for the depreciation of the franc. Even a moderate newspaper like "L'Intransigeant" writes in the same trend, declaring that no Frenchman is ever seen on the Bourse, but only Germans.

These attacks have created a nervous feeling among the Jewish refugees.

WHY NIKITA BALIEFF LIKES TO GO TO MOTION PICTURES

Since the evening of February 4, 1922, when he parted the black velvet curtains on the stage of the Forty-ninth Street Theatre in New York for the first time and announced in syncope Russian-English that he was the "dictator of the Chauve-Souris" and completely captivated the audience, until to-night when he began his first engagement in Toronto at the Royal Alexandra Theatre, Nikita Balieff has been, and still is, one of the most talked-of personages of the theatre in America.

But he does not enjoy being made a fuss over, except when on the other side of the footlights. Off stage he is too self-conscious.

But he feels happy in knowing that the public enjoy his work at the theatre and enjoy the performance as a whole, but terribly unhappy when as oftentimes happens, he is eating and people watch him through his whole dinner, saying at intervals, "There is Balieff." He assures us that he never enjoys his dinner when this happens. He is too uncomfortable, thinking through the whole meal that perhaps these people do not like the way he eats.

As an instance of this he tells us a story about a great actor in Russia. "This actor," says Balieff, "played 'Hamlet' in Shakespeare. Well, I saw that actor once in a restaurant eating a large beefsteak. It shocked me to see that and I never could enjoy his performance of 'Hamlet' after that. Hamlet should not eat beefsteak. He is too aesthetic; he is too poetic. It destroys the illusion to see him eat beefsteak. No, an artist should not be seen in public places."

But Balieff likes to go to the moving pictures, especially with Morris Gest, the man who had the artistic foresight to bring him and his excellent organization to America. There he is at ease and can breathe more freely, because the theatre is dark the greater part of the time. He can enjoy himself undisturbed without fear of hearing on all sides of him, "There is Balieff."

SHEA'S

Miss Julia Sanderson, the very flower of the musical comedy stage, has transferred her charm, her magnetism, her beauty, her talents, in short her own delightful self to the two-a-day where she will be seen for a limited season. Miss Sanderson starred in such successes as "Tangerine," "The Arcadian," "Kitty Gray" and "The Sunshine Girl." She headlines the bill at Shea's Theatre next week where she will be heard in a group of songs. She will be assisted by Mr. Herman Hupfeld, the composer.

Frank Crumit, who calls himself "The One-Man Glee Club" is a comedian who can sing, play instruments and tell a story. As a singer he can stand without the assistance of his laugh-provoking proclivities.

George Lemaire is back in the fold again after having spent a few years with the Ziegfeld Follies. He is one of the biggest comedians on the stage. This year Mr. Lemaire is offering "At the Dentist's."

Del Chain and Lou Archer are a new combination, but neither are new to vaudeville. Both Mr. Chain and Mr. Archer are worth-while funsters and together they work with the precision of a pair of piston rods. They sing and dance and generally make merry. Jane Dillon in "Glimpses of Life" plays seven distinct roles, and each of them are male characters, and some part is distinguished by its careful detail.

Harry and Harriet Seebach offer a combination of masculine ability and strength with feminine beauty and sweetness under the title of "Jazz in the Gym." Bellis Duem, who gives a graceful and daring aerial exhibition, completes the bill.

The articles will be sent to headquarters enroute to Palestine. The report of the convention was read. The next meeting will be held at the residence of Mrs. H. Lax, St. Marguerite Street.

EDITORIAL

the local Jewish Federation of Charities is at least double that of his neighbour's to the Community Federation, this in spite of the fact that the Jews also contribute to non-Jewish charities. As citizens and tax-payers Jews are entitled to the same assistance rendered other citizens by public charitable agencies. Yet the Jew, because of his pride, would rather pay extra than have his people receive alms. No one need worry and least of all the editor of Saturday Night, that the Jews will ever become a public charge.

Jews are not to be found in the prisons, reformatories, insane asylums and other like institutions, in anywhere near the proportion that their ratio in the general population would warrant. As for being found among the criminal classes, will the editor of Saturday Night please mention the name of a single Jew who in Canada has ever been found guilty of crimes similar in their villainy to those of "Red" Ryan, Leo Rogers and the Murrel Brothers, to mention but a few recent figures, who are neither Jews nor even foreigners? We make bold to state that Canada has no more law-abiding, industrious element than its Jewish population.

Are the Jews an asset or a liability, politically speaking? Statistics of naturalization in Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg prove that no other people become naturalized so readily as do the Jews. In every community the Jews are taking a growing interest, and actively participating in municipal, provincial and Federal government. No people have given finer leadership to the British Empire than have the Jews. One need but recall the names of Disraeli, Lord Reading, Montague, Mond and Herbert Samuels. Given time the Jews of Canada, in proportion to their numbers, will prove that there is no more loyal element in the country and the Empire than they are.

Whilst Saturday Night is crying with bitter crocodile tears that the government has seen fit to allow six thousand Jews to come into the country, a grand total of 400,000 Canadians, in 1923, left their motherland and bade farewell to the Maple Leaf, in order to seek jobs across the border in the United States. One would imagine that in the face of this constant leakage which is draining the country, that Saturday Night, which pretends to have the interest of Canada at heart, would welcome Jewish and all other immigrants that prove to be assets to the country. The Government at Ottawa can do nothing better than to encourage such immigrants to come here. We congratulate the Government not merely on its humanitarian motives but for its foresight and good business judgment which prompted the order to admit 6,000 Ukrainian Jewish refugees. These people will be assets to the country. But why apply sense where prejudice blinds—why argue reason where narrow provincialism blinds? We would suggest
